

STRANGE THINGS IN CANAL ZONE

W. A. WATTS WRITES INTERESTINGLY FROM CULEBRA, PANAMA.

DAYS HOT, BUT NIGHTS COOL

Bodies Not Buried Under Sod, But Laid on Graves and Covered with a Robe of Cement.

(By N. A. Watts.)
Culebra, Canal Zone, Rep. de Panama, October 29.—Letters reaching me late speak of the weather growing colder in the states and other indications of the approaching winter are apparent. Although we always use good blankets to sleep under, we can be comfortable at all times so far as the heat goes during the day. Occasionally a touch of the morning sun is somewhat oppressive, but in this respect times have been very rare during my five months in the tropics, and at such times I am reminded of the usual hot August day in the states. To walk into one of the machine shops, or in fact any shady place where the wind blows, it is almost necessary to put on a coat to be comfortable. Most every day during this, which is called the rainy season, we have local showers, some of which strike nearly every place during the day. Some of these are hard rains and always start the red cascades and rills bounding down the mountain sides.

Alligators and Wildcats.
It pangs seems remarkable that almost every pond of water up in this high altitude, has alligators in it. They are not afraid and every day I see them along the canal route, where the dirt trains are continually running past them. There are tonight at least two wildcats within one hundred and fifty yards of the edge of Culebra town, as I have seen them pass the Panama railway tracks every day regularly into the jungle, but their air is on the same mountain top as the town, judging from the time and direction that they cross over the tracks. While flagging on the railroad I could see them at the regular time and place.

Lepers Live in Cemetery.
Last Sunday I walked with a comrade from Empire to Culebra, about a mile distant down the railroad tracks. En route we visited one of the graveyards, one side of which comes up to the track. In the middle of this cemetery lives a Chinese leper in a kind of a little hut built of tin and old boards. He can always be found there during the daytime, but he either could not or would not understand our language, as we could get no answer from him. While here I noticed a grave decorated with empty beer bottles, a few of which were being stuck into the ground and the enclosure evenly covered by bottles laid over the top. Many of these graves seemed to have had the body laid on top, as they looked to have been wrapped the same as the Egyptian mummies, seen in the museums, and are covered with cement, the outline of the body being plainly seen.

Reading, "The" Amusement.
The S. S. Savannah, which left New York October 24th, arrived today, and tonight about seven o'clock, word flew over the camp that the mail had arrived. Very soon the postoffice was crowded and as the postmaster called names, if the response came for it in the letter or parcel was thrown through the door or window nearest the call. The proceeding reminded me of the eager expectancy of the infant class at a Christmas tree.

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purposes.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath, and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from the continued use of them, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary selves. I think I can speak for everyone here, when I say that anyone who would care to gladden a friend down here and obtain his sincere gratitude, just mail him a letter, a story book or paper.

Has Colored Porter Now.
Work is going on as usual along the canal and is gradually increasing. Since my last letter, my automobile has been provided with a colored porter, whose duties are to keep the car cleaned and in order, do errands and when we are on the road, throws switches for me. Like most of the colored labor here, if you ask them to hand you a monkey wrench, you most likely get the oil-can or anything else that is in the tool box except what you want, but as I usually have plenty of time, I just keep asking until I get what I wish.

Later Than the Lazy.
As I passed through Mississippi in the early morning on my way down here, I saw lots of colored men leaning up against a post or a fence along the way, with such a languid, stationary look about them that the question occurred to me whether they had just grown up leaning against the post, but I often hear foremen here say that they wished they had two or three of those southern fellows in place of the fifteen or twenty that he had so that he could get something done. If any foreman will not vouch for this I will retract.

RUSSIAN COLONY IS FAILURE

Incompetent Leaders Break Up Community in Panama.

Panama, Dec. 2.—The Russian colony in Chiriqui has proved a failure. The government made every effort to help the colonists and the reason assigned for their failure is that they had incompetent directors. Fifty Russian families left Panama Aug. 30 for Chiriqui and arrangements were made by which the same number of Russian families would be settled every month in different parts of the republic. The government was to give each family $300 and thirty acres of land.

Plan Supper and Sale.
The Ladies' Aid Society will have a supper and sale of fancy articles at Brinkman's hall, Friday evening, December 3. Supper will be served beginning at 6 o'clock, the prices being 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children. The articles which will be offered for sale will be both useful and ornamental and doubtless many suitable Christmas gifts can be found in the display. The progressive spirit manifest in this popular society is deserving of recognition and the public should show its appreciation of the ladies efforts by a large attendance at the hall next Friday evening.

The Literary Society.
"Reconstruction" was one of the chief themes considered at the meeting of the Literary society, held at the home of U. G. Waite on Thursday evening of last week. The chief features of Johnson's administration were studied, the program being interspersed with several musical numbers. The next meeting will be held Thursday evening, December 7 at the home of C. E. Uehling, with David Thorne acting as leader.

School Gave Entertainment.
The pupils of the state graded school gave a Thanksgiving entertainment at the school building last Wednesday afternoon, the program consisting of recitations, drills, songs and tableaux. The teachers, Misses Douglas and Soper, went to their Beloit homes for Thanksgiving.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S HAIR.
Its Greatest Profusion Was Always a Cause of Wonder.

Even at the age of 80 years, Queen Victoria's hair was a marvel of luxuriance. The court physician, following Prof. Unna's discovery, undoubtedly treated her Majesty's scalp with a germ destroying preparation, that was not made public. It is now known, however, that the remedy for dandruff, the germ destroying element, is embodied in Newbro's Herpicide, the only hair preparation on the market that destroys the dandruff germ. Without dandruff, hair will grow profusely, and falling hair will be stopped. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

LOCAL CHILDREN IN AN OPRETTA

VERY CREDITABLE PERFORMANCE AT MYERS THEATRE

OF ALICE IN WONDERLAND

Lewis Carroll's Classic Adapted to the Stage—To Be Seen Again This Evening.

Elves and gnomes and fairies, Mother Goose and all her retinue, the dromedary, the mad hatter, the March hare, and the Cheshire cat hold sway at the Myers theatre last evening. The children's extravaganza, "Alice in Wonderland," produced by local talent under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., opened with a prologue wherein the Queen of Fairies told in verse of all that had come to pass and with a wave of her wand disclosed the sleeping world, child and the dance and revels of the sprites, covered with gleaming stars and bearing garlands of flowers. All of which was very beautiful and effective.

Little Alice Awakens.
After the prologue May Martin, who took the part of "Little Alice," was very much awake. In the most naive and artless manner imaginable she conversed with the White Rabbit who came bounding in with a puzzling message, the Mouse, "not fond of cats," and the Caterpillar who moralized loftily from a very low station and "did his crawl" in a manner that at once evoked applause. Her role was a very difficult one, as she was on the scene a great part of the time and had many lines and situations to memorize. Sing-song elocution to which most children are addicted might easily have marred her work, but little Miss Martin in her dialogues and monologues, her singing and acting, never impressed the spectator as one "speaking a piece." The scene with the Cheshire cat which humped his back and puttered while she alternately sang and recited, was one of the richest contributions of the evening. David Cunningham admirably portrayed this remarkable feline; Archie Cunningham was the realistic Caterpillar; Orr Laughlin, the Mouse, and Willis Hemming, the White Rabbit.

"Only Big Wax Dolls"
The Fish and Frog footmen, the fairies' dance, and the song and jig by the Jolly Sailor Boys were all very good and the Fan Drill and song by the four demure and diminutive little Japanese maidens pleased exceedingly. But the sketch which was perhaps the biggest hit in this act was the song and interpretation of "The Nothing But a Big Wax Doll" by little Miss Saxby and Lucy Smith. The imitations of the arm and head movements of the doll were superb; albeit the small singers were scarcely larger than the "sawdust" infants they depicted. The first act closed with a very intricate and effective march of nations. Thirty-two young ladies garbed in the colors and carrying the flags of eight nations took part and Miss Bessie Burch as "Columbia" sang a very pleasing selection which evoked a storm of applause.

Rough Ride and King.
Harold Dearborn in Rough Ride uniform also sang a martial air which thrilled the listeners and in the second act, robed in his royal costume, he depicted himself as king and ruler of Wonderland in a very realistic fashion. Miss Violet Dreyer as Queen of Hearts and ordered wholesale decapitations in a manner most heartless. Willis Phelps, Frank Behling, and Victor Whitton were the three mad friends—the March Hare, the Mad Hatter, and the Dormouse. Ronald Airis, Forrest Fleck, Francis Green and Frank Behling represented the following members of the caucus: the Owl, the Fox, the Eagle, and the Rooster. Harold Skelly, Henry Nichol, and Harold Mohr appeared as the Two, Five, and Seven of Spades and the trio sang a very interesting song. Master Howland and Edwin Oliver were the fish and frog footmen.

"Floradora" With Variations.
Harold Laughlin was the executioner, "necessary to the Queen's happiness," and Francis Green was the Knave who stole the tarts. Laura Schlatt was Mother Goose and Arthur Wolcott as "Little Boy Blue" was the first and most of the most interesting of her children to appear. Lucy Fox was the "peppery" cook who made the whole court sneeze. The Queens of Diamonds, Spades, and Clubs, were portrayed by the Misses Wilma Jones, Mary Stewart, and Mary Ludden; the first, second, third and fourth fairies, by Hazel Myhr, Clara Cook, Ruth Taylor, and Margaret Powers. Miss Pearl Peters was very fascinating and interesting as "the Duchess, always moralizing." In one of the scenes of the second act a double sextette in motley array gave a grotesque parody on the "Floradora" girls. When the "street urchin" knights knelt to take their ladies on their knees it twice happened that one was unequal to the task and the lady toppled over against the scenery, sending the audience into shrieks of laughter. The "Blooming Lize Sextette" supposed to be composed of the Misses Vernice Ludden, Wilma Jones, Mabel Hans, Ethel Walker, Myrtle Fulton, and Ray Heyman, did very well minus one of its number. The entertainment is repeated at a matinee performance this afternoon and this evening.

Teaches Girls to Make Butter.

Attorney Advises Committee to Go Before Police Magistrate and Secure Warrants for Arrest of Responsible Persons on Criminal Charges.

New York, Dec. 2.—Some of the big policy holders in the New York Life called on one of the best known lawyers in New York and asked his opinion on the advisability of forming a policy holders' committee for the purpose of thoroughly investigating the management of the company.

The idea of these policy holders was that the trustees of the New York Life are not pitching into the situation that confronts them as they should. These policy holders want a thorough housecleaning of the company by the trustees, placing the responsibility for mismanagement without fear or favor. It is said that the policy holders who visited the lawyer are backed by other policy holders—representative men in this city—and that some action will be taken in a few days unless the trustees of the company make it plain they intend to go to the bottom of the disclosures.

Lawyer Suggests Charges.
The lawyer advised the deputation that the proposed move was feasible and should be undertaken. He pointed out that such a committee could speedily bring matters to a head by one of their number going before a police magistrate and asking for warrants for the arrest of responsible persons on any one or all of the following charges:

1. Forgery in the third degree, based upon the fact that the books of the New York Life were falsified in that they do not contain any records whatever of payments to Andrew Hamilton of $59,000 by J. P. Morgan & Co.; of $100,000 by the New York Security and Trust company, and of $40,000 to George W. Perkins out of the profits on the loan to Kidder, Peabody & Co.

2. Conversion of trust funds, which, under the penal code, is larceny.

This charge, the lawyer said, could be based upon the large number of transactions disclosed by the testimony given before the Armstrong committee.

Anent Giving of Rebates.
3. The giving of rebates, which is a misdemeanor under the penal code. This charge, the lawyer said, could be based upon the admission of Gage E. Tarbell, vice president of the Equitable, that he made an arrangement with George W. Perkins, vice president of the New York Life, for a commission or rebate on his insurance taken out in the latter company.

It was pointed out by the lawyer that if the policy holder took the step of going before a police magistrate it would compel District Attorney Jerome to take official cognizance of many of the evils in the management of life insurance companies and probably lead to a large number of prosecutions in the criminal courts.

A report that John A. McCall and George W. Perkins would resign from the New York Life on Jan. 1 was emphatically denied. John C. McCall, secretary of the company and son of its president, said:

"There is not a word of truth in that statement."

John Claflin, one of the trustees of the company, when asked if the trustees were about to demand the resignation of President McCall, declared there was no such movement on foot. It is the general opinion that both McCall and Perkins will not retire until they are driven out.

Fields and Smith Are Out.
Temporary President Frederic Cromwell of the Mutual Life appointed Walter S. Sullivan, head of the company's advertising department, acting manager of the supply department. The supply department was in charge of Legislative Supervisor Fields and it was through manipulation of this department's affairs that Fields is supposed to have gotten the greater part of the money he used for legislative purposes. It is said authoritatively that while Fields has been superseded in the supply department his connection with the company has not been severed "in so far as the effort now being made to bring him back to New York to testify is concerned."

Acting President Cromwell also accepted the resignation of Charles A. Smith, "Dollar a Line Smith." Smith was the Mutual's "literary" agent and from the blithesome tone of his testimony before the legislative committee no one would have supposed he intended to give up his $8,000 a year salary so soon.

—FORTY YEARS AGO—

Janesville Daily Gazette, Saturday, December 2, 1865.—The season of our discontent is made glorious summer by the exceedingly pleasant days that come and go without regard to almanac or precedent. We saw a lady this afternoon placing her plants out to have an airing—a thing so unusual in this hyperborean climate for December that we resolved to make a note of it.

Janesville Accommodation.—The Prairie du Chien Railway Company has put an accommodation train on between this city and Janesville, and is to be run as one of the institutions of this excellently managed road. Leaving Janesville at 5:30 in the morning and arrive in Milwaukee at 10:30 a. m.; returning leave Milwaukee at 6:00 p. m., and arrive in Janesville at 9:41 p. m.—Milwaukee Wisconsin.

This train will be a great accommodation to people living on the line of road, but we would suggest whether it is not almost too early for leaving this city. If the time of departure could be fixed at 7 or 7:30 it would be vastly better for the citizens of this place, and by shortening the time to running in to four hours it would not probably interfere with the arrangement of the road. Will not the officers consider the matter?

The State Canvass.—Official returns of the vote of all the counties have been received at the Secretary of State's office, and sum up as follows:

Total home vote for Governor, 195,351. Of suffrage, 190,555. The vote is divided as follows:

For Suffrage, 46,248; against suffrage, 54,307. Majority, 8,059. Home vote last year, 181,473. Decrease since last year, 26,292. Union majority last year on home vote, 6,301.

Union majority this year, 9,097. Decrease on the home majority, 2,796.

Soldiers' vote as far as received gives Fairchild, 1,045; Hobart, 209. For suffrage, 289; against suffrage, 1,095. There are a few regiments and a few other companies to hear from. Fairchild's total majority will be a little over 10,000.

The vote is lighter than for several years since.

..COMING ATTRACTIONS..

Arrangements were completed with the Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A., under whose auspices three performances, including a matinee will be given in Janesville, Friday, and Saturday, Dec. 1 and 2. The local society will select the children from among the brightest of our public schools, who will be specially trained by instructors from New York. There will be several choruses, small speaking and acting parts by the children and a great number of specialties both by the local children and professionals. All stage costumes, properties, electrical and calcium effects, etc., are furnished by the management. The Women's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. have entered into this enterprise with wonderful energy and determination to make a grand success of "Alice in Wonderland."

The sale of seats for the opening performances of Himmelsin's Stock company opened this morning at 9 a. m., and there was a large demand for tickets. The company has many staunch friends among the theatre-goers here who always look forward to the engagement with considerable pleasure and delight, knowing that they will not be disappointed in anticipating a week of enjoyable plays and performances. The usual "lady ticket" privilege will be accorded patrons for the opening night when the company will present "Out of the Field." The customary Saturday matinee will be given.

'BE SOBER'

Says President Roosevelt

"It is of incalculable consequence to the man himself that he should be sober and temperate, and it is of even more consequence to his wife and his children; for it is a hard and cruel fact that in this life of ours the sins of the man are often visited most heavily upon those whose welfare should be his one special care."—President Roosevelt to the Miners at Wilkesbarre, Pa.

TOOTH TALKS

"Why didn't you pull them out," said an awakening patient to Dr. Richards recently. He had taken VITALIZED AIR to have his teeth extracted and so completely successful was the effect that he was not aware that his teeth were already in the waste basket.

When he took a look at his mouth he could hardly believe his eyes—Teeth all out!

No feeling or pain whatever.

He looked upon the Dentist as if he were a wizard.

There's nothing supernatural about it.

Just a pleasant putting of nerves to sleep of 10 seconds and the job is all over.

Try it yourself.

Dr. Richards has used this method for 12 years and ought to be skilled through experience.

GRAVE CHARGES
MADE YESTERDAY

AWARD OF FURNISHING CONTRACT BRINGS UGLY RUMORS.

WAS ONE BID CHANGED?

Chicago Man Says That It Was—Report, if True, Is Very Ugly and Bad for Some One.

What promises to be an interesting disclosure of the doings of the building committee of the county board is promised the tax-payers of Rock County. Circumstances which have the appearance of "queer dealings" are in evidence according to good authority, relative to the awarding of the work of furnishing the new vaults now under construction at the courthouse. It is possible that before the matter is finally settled down members of the county board may have to explain now the Art Metal Construction Company of Jamestown, N. Y., secured the contract for the work and it may be interesting reading.

When the county board decided to build the addition to the county building and equip the vaults the building committee, consisting of Simon Smith of Beloit, Edward Rathenham of Janesville and Mr. Green of Milton, was left to settle the matters relative to equipment of the new vaults. According to law, bids were received and three firms, the Library Bureau of Chicago, the Art Metal Construction Company of Jamestown, N. Y., and the General Fire Proof Company, filed bids. Here is where the trouble commenced. According to the statement of F. R. Coudrey of the Library Bureau, his bid was originally the lowest, being $1,520, while the bid of the Jamestown company was $1,575 and the other firm bid $1,545. This was a week ago when the bids were opened according to law. Yesterday to the surprise of Mr. Coudrey and certain county officials, including one member of the committee, the bid of the Jamestown company was found to be an even $1,500 and it was awarded the contract.

Was It Changed
The question now arises: Was the Jamestown company's bid altered after it was opened and found to be the highest? Mr. Coudrey is sure it was and told the committee so in many words. One of the members of the committee is alleged to have stated this fact to Mr. Coudrey and others, and have expressed surprise when the bids were read again yesterday. Another question now is asked: Why was the bid changed and by whom? This last is hard to answer. The allegations, if true, are serious and should be carefully investigated and the party who violated the law punished if found guilty.

Very Indignant
Mr. Coudrey was very indignant last evening. He stated in no measured language what he thought of the deal and one of the members in particular. He could not state just what course his firm would take, but thought that perhaps they might take legal steps to tie up the present award and demand an investigation. Feeling about the courthouse is very strong regarding the matter and sentiment appears to be with Mr. Coudrey and his claims. The bid of his company even furnished more material than did the Jamestown firm's bid, and it is alleged was worth fully a hundred dollars more than the successful bidders. Members of the county board, not members of the committee on building, state very emphatically that the board should take some steps to investigate the matter and if untrue clear their committee.

Did Not Want Bids
According to Mr. Coudrey, he alleges to have in his possession a letter from Simon Smith, chairman of the committee, in which Mr. Smith said that they did not desire bids from the Library Bureau company, as they were well pleased with the firm that has furnished material in the past and did not want any competition. This letter might explain the action of the board. Which ever way the matter comes out until investigated a cloud hangs over the committee and other members of the county board should demand an investigation. If the allegations of Mr. Coudrey are correct they are serious and show that something is "rotten in Denmark."

Recalls Statement
In this connection the recent statement of former County Clerk Frank P. Starr, and present supervisor of assessments, before the Social Union is pithy: "I do not believe that there is any graft in the city of Janesville, though there may be favoritism. And as one of the servants of the county for six years and in close touch with the county board and officers, I say that no man can truthfully assert that there has ever been a symptom of graft in connection with any county officer or the county board. So there is no lid to be removed in Rock county."

MORTUARY RECORD

Mrs. George J. Davis
Impressive funeral services were conducted over the remains of the late Mrs. George J. Davis this afternoon at two o'clock at the home, 129 South Main street. Rev. Denison spoke of her services, her uncomplaining spirit, and faith. The pallbearers were D. Brown, A. E. Matheson, C. S. Cleland, H. J. Cunningham, C. B. Kerch and John Ketchum. Burial was in Oak Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Ralph Adair
All that is mortal of the late Mrs. Ralph Adair was tenderly laid to rest in Oak Hill cemetery today. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Denison from the home of her mother, Mrs. Cora Brown, Fourth avenue, at half-past ten o'clock. Many loving friends and floral tributes covered the casket. The pallbearers were Jesse Parle, Charles Reeder, Bernard Palmer, Arthur Fisher, Oscar O. Newhouse and Stanley Tallman.

Society..

Miss Betsy E. Wilcox of this city and Horace L. Dyer, assistant United States district attorney of St. Louis, were quietly wedded at 6:30 p.m. at the Episcopal church, Chicago, this afternoon. The bride has been prominent in Janesville society circles and is a talented musician. This last autumn she taught in Harbin College at Mexico, Missouri, and during the preceding year she was an instructor in the school for girls in Anniston, Alabama. Her sisters, Mrs. A. J. Harris and the Misses Vera and Elizabeth Wilcox, were present at the ceremony. It was expected that the wedding would take place here, but plans were evidently altered at the last moment. The groom is a graduate of the University of Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Dyer will make their home in St. Louis.

Miss Glass of Watford, Wis., Mr. Swenson of Beloit and Miss Cole of Milton visited People's Lodge, I. O. G. T., here last evening.

Miss Hannah Ostrem of Dubuque, Iowa, was a guest at the home of P. O. Hammerlund, 15 Dixon street, over Thanksgiving day.

Miss Ethel Jones of Barnevill, Wis., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Mathews on South High street.

Miss Marian Chittenden is home for a few days from Sycamore, Ill., where she is attending Waterman Hall.

Miss Elsie Schlegel of Fort Atkinson was the guest of her sister, Miss Frances Schlegel, yesterday and today.

Miss Lummis of the high school faculty is spending the Thanksgiving recess at her home in Appleton.

Miss Winifred Fifield entertained a company of young ladies yesterday in honor of Miss Parsons of Chicago.

Miss Lonah Pierce returned from Monticello Friday morning, after spending Thanksgiving at her home.

Mrs. H. N. B. Caragine and son of Monroe were guests of F. O. Humphrey over Thanksgiving day.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mount were Thanksgiving day guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Earle in Edgerton.

Miss Mae Huntress is spending the week in Edgerton the guest of her cousin, Miss Berrice Brown.

Miss Agnes Greening, member of the high school faculty, is visiting at her home in Whitewater.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Bailey, Harvey Bailey and Miss Grace Bailey spent Thanksgiving day in Clinton.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Humphrey, son and daughter spent Thanksgiving day with local relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ward are visiting their daughter, Mrs. William Dunn, near Shopper.

Mrs. E. Kennedy of Edgerton is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Enoch Taylor, for a few days.

Mrs. Will Judd is entertaining the Ladies' Afternoon Whist club this afternoon.

ENGINEER GOES UP WITH ENGINE

EXPLOSION ON R. KEMMERER FARM SOUTH OF CITY.

MACHINE IS BADLY DAMAGED

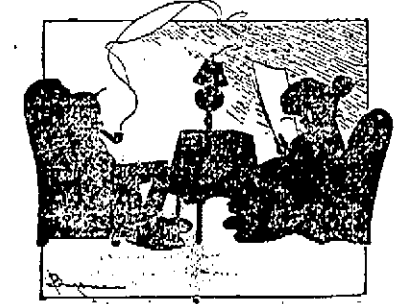

But Gilbert Gilbertson, the Operator, Escaped with Only Slight Injuries.

On the R. Kemmerer farm south of Janesville this morning a traction engine, furnishing motive power for a corn-shredder, exploded and hurled Gilbert Gilbertson, the engineer, high into the air. He was enveloped in steam and pieces of broken metal flew thick about him. His escape from death was miraculous, for he sustained only several scalds and bruises, which are not considered serious. The engine was badly wrecked and it is thought that nothing less than three hundred dollars will cover the damage. The door and fire grate were thrown two hundred feet away from where the shredding was being done and being intensely hot set fire to the grass where they landed. How the accident happened Gilbertson is unable to explain, but it is supposed that the explosion was of gases other than steam. Shortly before the accident the water gauge showed the regular amount of water to be in the boiler, but as this ordinarily trustworthy guide to a safety stands away from the boiler it is supposed that the connecting pipe was frozen and that the boiler was empty. It would hardly be possible for the water in the boiler to have caused the explosion, but it is believed that when the steam was nearly exhausted other gases were formed and the boiler, weakened naturally by the over-heating it was subjected to, flew to pieces with but little pressure. The engine was the property of B. L. Gower and had been rented during the shredding season by Frank Knippschield. The loss will be met by R. Kemmerer.

UNDERSTANDING ALL ABOUT THE OFFICE

Domestic Discussion of the Much Mooted Postoffice Question, at Home.

"This postoffice matter is not settled yet," remarked Mrs. Donsenberry to her husband the other evening. "Now why all them democrats and half-breeds are fighting I can't see. Now you just listen to what I say, John Henry Donsenberry. When they pass you any papers for to sign you refuse to have anything to do with any of them. I won't have you mixed up in any of them political wrangles. Why, just see what they done to them politicians in Philadelphia. My, but it is getting as bad to be a politician as it is to be an insurance magnate. However, if Angie King asks you for your support don't you fail to sign her paper. She would make a mighty fine postmaster or postmistress and I bet you a good cookie she would see that them poor mail boys had soap and towels and that the place was dusted once in awhile and that them lights were lit. Now, see here, John Henry, I believe you ain't listening to a thing I am saying. "Yes, I am," meekly replies John Henry. "But I reckon that I have already signed a paper, I was down to the sear store tonight and some young fellow give me Bill Bates' paper and I done signed it 'fore I thought. Perhaps that don't make no difference though, cause he's running for judge down to Beloit, and that ain't got nothing to do with the Janesville postoffice, be it?" "Well, I should say not. Angie King she is the postoffice candidate. She and Colonel Kimberley, whom ye heard sing so many times, and Charley Valentine and Marsh Richardson the lawyer. Bill Bates ain't got nothing to do with postoffice anyhow. You just sign Angie King's paper and no other." "Well, Maria, come to think of it I did sign another paper. I was down to the barbershop and the barber who was shaving me says mighty smooth like: 'How do ye like the razor?' 'Fine,' says I. 'Well,' sez he, 'I jest shaved the next postmaster.' 'Ye don't tell!' says I. 'Who be he?' 'Why, Charley King,' he said, 'and I want you to sign his paper.' So I did."

THROAT LANCED FIVE TIMES

Duluth Woman Undergoes Delicate Operation for Quinsy Without Any Effect. Relieved by Peculiar Liniment.

After suffering for weeks from quinsy and submitting to five operations on her throat, Mrs. W. W. Motcalf, of 52 Ave. West, South Duluth, Minn., in a recent letter tells a remarkable story of the result. To quote her Mrs. Motcalf writes in part as follows: "The high fever, intense headaches and a sore feeling from head to foot which accompanied my illness made me unfit for anything. Lancing my throat seemed to do no good and when I read of The Great Cooper and the cures he was effecting with his wonderful Medicines, I resolved to try them. After using one half of the first bottle of Cooper's Quick Relief there was a change for the better; all my pain vanished and I improved steadily."

E. B. Heinmeyer who sells Mr. Cooper's Remedies in Janesville, when asked about these medicines said the sale is enormous and is increasing every day.

Cooper's New Discovery and Quick Relief, the medicines with which Mr. L. T. Cooper is so marvelously curing Rheumatism, Catarrh, Stomach and Kidney Trouble, Blood Diseases, Deafness and Paralysis sell for one dollar per bottle and fifty cents per bottle respectively and can be used by any one in their own home with the same good results.

MILK AND MUSIC.

Dairy farming approaches nearest to perfection in Switzerland, and there the milkmaid with the sweetest voice commands the highest salary.

The relationship between good singing and good dairy work was proved several years ago at a farmers' congress at Interlaken.

At Interlaken, in a milking contest three days' long, the same cows, milked in silence, yielded 200 quarts of milk; milked by maids with fair voices, they yielded 220 quarts; milked by maids with beautiful voices, they yielded 240 quarts.

This proof of a fact that had long been suspected set a premium on the milkmaids who could sing well. They who could not sing well took up at once the study of vocalization, and hence it is that Switzerland has so many singing schools.

Milking time in the little mountain republic is easily remarked by the tourist "on account of the enormous volume of song that then soars up."

Silent milking, in the eyes of the frugal Swiss farmer, is almost a crime and the dairymaid who milks in silence is certain to be discharged.

Swiss maids who apply for places in dairies are examined as strictly in singing as in milking and buttermaking.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

WITH THE SAGES.

We learn to know nothing but what we love; and the deeper we mean to penetrate into any matter with insight the stronger and more vital must our love and passion be.—Goethe.

Affliction is the good man's shining sword; Prosperity conceals his brightest ray. As night to stars, woe luster gives to man.—Young.

Great opportunities come to all, but many do not know they have met them. The only preparation to take advantage of them is simple fidelity to what each day brings.—A. E. Dunsmuir.

Self-distrust is the cause of most of our failures. In the assurance of strength there is strength, and they are the weakest, however strong, who have no faith in themselves or their powers.—Bovoc.

The greatest men whom I have known—men whose glance embrace the heavens and the earth—were very humble, and aware of the manner in which they had risen to such eminence.—Goethe.

CHARGE FRAUD TO FINANCIER

St. Louis Editor-Banker Is Indicted by Federal Grand Jury.

ORIGINATES MAIL ORDER BANK

Institution Issues Certificates for Deposits, Under Claim That the Paper Would be Legal Tender Throughout the Country.

St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 2.—E. G. Lewis, one of the most spectacular financiers of the country, was indicted by the federal grand jury on the charge of fraud and conspiracy to defraud the government.

Lewis has been a startling figure in St. Louis finance. He started the People's United States bank a year ago without capital. In six months people in the United States and even abroad purchased more than $2,000,000 worth of the stock, sending their money to him in perfect confidence.

He is the owner of two magazines, one having a circulation of 500,000 and the other 141,000.

Lewis had vast financial and political ambition. He projected great enterprises. He borrowed excessively from his own bank, taking $46,375 one time, $390,000 at another, $346,000 at another.

He organized the University Heights Realty and Development company and spent $350,000 upon it, loaning it $341,163 more from the bank's funds. He had many other projects.

Fraud Order Is Issued.

Then came the crash. Last July the postoffice department issued a fraud order against his bank and the bank itself was thrown into the hands of a receiver.

Four postoffice inspectors were set to work, and they worked for months upon the case. Last Tuesday the grand jury met and heard their evidence, with the testimony of three employees of the magazine published by Lewis. His indictment came Friday. With him were indicted F. J. Cavit and William E. Miller, closely identified with his projects.

The indictment concerning the operation of the bank sets forth that promises were made that for every dollar invested Lewis would put up a like amount of his own means; that the affairs of the bank would be conducted by a committee of fifteen directors of St. Louis banks; that the money would be invested only in government bonds, and that no portion of the funds would be loaned to Lewis or to any of the directors of the concern. The indictment alleges that Lewis did not intend to carry out any of these promises, in the opinion of the grand jurors.

The specific allegations forming the basis for the second indictment, relating to the magazines, are that on Oct. 1, 1905, 784 pounds of the Woman's Farm Journal in excess of the amount permitted by law were sent out as sample copies, and that on Oct. 20, 107,862 pounds of the Woman's Magazine in excess of the legal limit were sent out. This indictment charges conspiracy to defraud the United States.

Lewis Is Ready for Trial.

Lewis announced that he and his associates would appear before Judge Finkenberg and give bond. Discussing the indictment, he said:

"There is no publication in America whose publishers could not be indicted and publication destroyed under the same investigation which our publications have been subjected to."

"I can say, however, I am glad the matter has come to an issue. We never have learned what we have been charged with, and when the matter gets into the courts we will be able to do this."

"There was no witness called before the grand jury from our establishments who could speak with authority. The three witnesses in question were discharged employees. We have not conspired to defraud the government, and if more papers have been sent out than should have been we don't know it. During the last year there have been nearly a billion people at our office, and nearly one-third left orders for papers to be sent to some friend. This, of course, would prevent the name of each person getting the paper from being on the subscription list."

Incorporates Mail Order Bank.

Lewis incorporated the People's United States bank on Nov. 14, 1904, with a capital stock of $1,000,000. The capital stock was increased on Mar. 15, 1905, to $2,500,000, of which $2,000,000 was paid in.

Lewis began advertising the bank in the January, 1904, edition of the Woman's Magazine, urging people to buy stock in the bank. He made lavish promises of big profits. His scheme was for the bank to secure depositors all over the United States, the deposits to be sent in by mail. To the depositor he issued certificates ranging from $5 upward, which he asserted would pass as legal tender anywhere in the United States.

The Holladay Case

A Mystery
Of Two Continents

By
BURTON E. STEVENSON

Copyright, 1903, by Henry Holt and Company

I had some work of my own to keep me busy that night, so devoted no thought to Frances Holladay and her affairs, but they were recalled to me with renewed force next morning.

"Did you get Miss Holladay's signature to that conveyance?" Mr. Graham chanced to ask his partner in the course of the morning.

"No, sir," answered Mr. Royce, with just a trace of embarrassment. "I called at the house last night, but she sent down word that she was too ill to see me or to transact any business."

"Nothing serious, I hope?" asked the other quickly.

"No, sir. I think not. Just a trace of nervousness, probably."

But when he called again at the house that evening he received a similar message, supplemented with the news imparted by the butler, a servant of many years' standing in the family, that Miss Holladay had suddenly decided to leave the city and open her country place on Long Island. It was only the end of March, and so a full two months and more ahead of the season. But she was feeling very ill, was not able to leave her room, indeed, and believed the fresh air and quiet of the country would do more than anything else to restore her shattered nerves. So the whole household, with the exception of her maid, a cook, house girl and underbutler, were to leave the city next day in order to get the country house ready at once.

"I don't wonder she needs a little toning up," remarked our chief sympathetically. "She has gone through a nerve trying ordeal, especially for a girl reared as she has been. Two or three months of quiet will do her good. When does she expect to leave?"

"In about a week, I think. The time hasn't been definitely set. It will depend upon how the arrangements go forward. It won't be necessary, will it, to bother her with any details of business? That conveyance, for instance?"

"Can wait till she gets back. No, we won't bother her at all."

But it seemed that she had either improved or changed her mind, for two days later a note, which her maid had written for her, came to Mr. Graham asking him to call upon her in the course of the next twenty-four hours, as she wished to talk over some matters of business with him. It struck me as singular that she should ask for Mr. Graham, but our senior called a cab and started off at once without comment. An hour later the door opened and he entered the office with a most peculiar expression of countenance.

"Well, that beats me!" he exclaimed as he dropped into his chair. "Our junior wheeled around toward him without speaking, but his anxiety was plain enough."

"To think that a girl as level headed as Frances Holladay has always been should suddenly develop such whimsicalities. Yet I couldn't but admire her grasp of things. Here have I been thinking she didn't know anything about her business and didn't care, but she seems to have kept her eyes open."

"Well?" asked Mr. Royce as the other paused.

"Well, she started out by reminding me that her property had been left to her absolutely, to do as she pleased with, a point which I, of course, conceded. She then went on to say that she knew of a number of bequests her father had intended to make before his death, and which he would have made if he had not been cut off so suddenly; that the bequests were of such a nature that he did not wish his name to appear in them, and that she was going to undertake to carry them out anonymously."

"Well?" asked our junior again.

"Well," said Mr. Graham slowly, "she asked me to dispose at once of such of her securities as I thought best in order that I might place in her hands by tomorrow night $100,000 in cash—a cool hundred thousand!"

"CHAPTER VIII.

"A HUNDRED thousand dollars!" ejaculated Mr. Royce, and sat staring at his chief.

"A hundred thousand dollars! That's a good deal for a girl to give away in a lump, but she can afford it. Of course we're nothing to do but carry out her instructions. I think both of us can guess what she intends doing with the money."

The other nodded. I believed that I could guess too. The money, of course, was intended for the other woman. She was not to suffer for her crime after all. Miss Holladay seemed to me in no little danger of becoming an accessory after the fact.

"She seems really ill," continued our senior. "She looks thinner and quite careworn. I commend her resolution to seek rest and quiet and change of scene."

"When does she go, sir?" asked Mr. Royce in a subdued voice.

"The day after tomorrow, I think. She did not say definitely. In fact, she could talk very little. She's managed to catch cold—the grip, I suppose—and was very hoarse. It would have been cruelty to make her talk, and I didn't try."

He wheeled around to his desk and then suddenly back again.

"By the way," he said, "I saw the new maid. I can't say I wholly approve of her."

He paused a minute, weighing his words.

"She seems careful and devoted," he went on at last, "but I don't like her eyes. They're too intense. I caught her two or three times watching me strangely. I can't imagine where Miss Holladay picked her up, or why she should have picked her up at all. She's French, of course. She speaks with a decided accent. About the money, I suppose we'd better sell a block of U. S. bonds. They're the least speculative of her securities."

"Yes, I suppose so," agreed Mr. Royce, and the chief called up a broker and gave the necessary orders. Then he turned to other work, and the day passed without any further reference to Miss Holladay or her affairs.

The proceeds of the sale were brought to the office early the next afternoon, a small packet neatly sealed and docketed—100 thousand dollar bills. Mr. Graham turned it over in his hand thoughtfully.

"You'll take it to the house, of course, John," he said to his partner. "Let's get it better go with you."

So Mr. Royce placed the package in his pocket, a cab was summoned, and we were off. The trip was made without incident, and at the end of half an hour we drew up before the Holladay mansion.

It was one of the old style brown stone fronts which lined both sides of the avenue twenty years ago. It was no longer in the ultra fashionable quarter, which had moved up toward Central park, and shops of various kinds were beginning to encroach upon the neighborhood, but it had been Elcam Holladay's home for forty years, and he had never been willing to part with it. At this moment all the blinds were down and the house had a deserted look. We mounted the steps to the door, which was opened at once to our ring by a woman whom I knew instinctively to be the new maid, though she looked much less like a maid than like an elderly working woman of the middle class.

"We've brought the money Miss Holladay asked Mr. Graham for yesterday," said Mr. Royce. "In John Royce, his partner."

"And without answering the woman motioned us in. 'Of course we must have a receipt for it,' he added. 'I have it ready here, and she need only attach her signature.'"

"Miss Holladay is too ill to see you, sir," said the maid, with careful enunciation. "I will myself the paper take to her and get her signature."

Mr. Royce hesitated a moment in perplexity. As for me, I was ransacking my memory. Where had I heard that voice before? Somewhere, I was certain—a voice low, vibrant, repressed, full of color. Then, with a start, I remembered. It was Miss Holladay's voice as she had risen to welcome our junior that morning at the corner's court. I shook myself together, for that was nonsense.

"I fear that won't do," said Mr. Royce at last. "The sum is a considerable one and must be given to Miss Holladay by me personally in the presence of this witness."

It was the maid's turn to hesitate. I saw her lips tighten ominously.

"Very well, sir," she said. "But I warn you she is most nervous, and it has been forbidden her to talk."

"She will not be called upon to talk," retorted Mr. Royce curtly, and without answering the woman turned and led the way up the stair and to her mistress's room.

Miss Holladay was lying back in a great chair with a bandage about her head, and even in the half light I could see how changed she was. She seemed much thinner and older and coughed occasionally in a way that frightened me. Not grief alone, I told myself, could have caused this breakdown; it was the secret weighing upon her. My

"Well?" asked Mr. Royce as the other paused.

"Well," said Mr. Graham slowly, "she asked me to dispose at once of such of her securities as I thought best in order that I might place in her hands by tomorrow night $100,000 in cash—a cool hundred thousand!"

MORE ISLANDS WILL BE SEIZED

Powers Refuse to Modify Demands Upon the Sultan of Turkey.

Athens, Dec. 2.—A Russian torpedo-boat destroyer arrived here Friday. Her commander, in an interview, said that the Turkish governor of the island of Mytilene presented to Vice Admiral Ritter von Jedina, commander of the international fleet, an official dispatch from Constantinople, in which it was stated that the port would accept the proposals of the powers for the financial control of Macedonia with modifications. Admiral von Jedina replied, according to the Russian officer, that if the port did not definitely accept the demands the international fleet would occupy the islands of Lemnos and Imbros.

COULD NOT PLACE THE GUILT

Grand Jury Fails to Indict in Kenyon College Case.

Mount Vernon, Ohio, Dec. 2.—The Knox county grand jury failed to return indictments against any of the members of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity or any members of Kenyon college in connection with the death of Stewart Pierson, who met death at Gambler while being initiated. The jurors examined the testimony given at the coroner's inquest and they came to the same conclusion as the coroner that Pierson either had been tied to the tracks or in such a position he could not extricate himself, but the guilty party or parties could not be determined.

WILL NAME FOUR CARDINALS

Veneti, However, Will Not Be Nominated at Coming Consistory.

Rome, Dec. 2.—The pope has expressed his intention to create Monsignore Cavallari, the patriarch of Venice, cardinal in pectore. His nomination, however, will not be published until a later consistory. Consequently the cardinals to be created at the consistory of Dec. 11 will be only the four already known—namely, Monsignore Cagiano De' Azevedo, major domo of the vatican; Archbishop Samassa of Flau, Hungary; Monsignore J. A. De Arcoveque, De Albuquerque Cavalcanti, archbishop of Rio Janeiro, and Archbishop Spinola of Seville.

PRICE OF SILVER IS GOING UP

Reaches 65 1/2 Cents, the Highest Figure Since 1896.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 2.—Silver is jumping up in price. It is now 65 1/2 cents an ounce, the highest price since 1896. Two months ago the market quotation was 50 cents. The demand is greater than the supply, the brokers say, in accounting for the higher price. But they also say that in addition to a legitimate business demand there is also a speculative demand which must be taken into consideration.

Man Shot Through Heart.

Ironton, Ohio, Dec. 2.—Thomas Rice of Grayson, Ky., was found shot through the heart in a freight car at Russell. He started west with household goods and four dogs. He had $400 in gold when found.

Banker's Son a Suicide.

San Diego, Cal., Dec. 2.—Charles D. Godfrey, son of Charles H. Godfrey, retired New York banker, committed suicide by shooting himself. Godfrey was 29 years old and his health was poor.

Ask for Juvenile Court.

Washington, Dec. 2.—The district commissioners will send to the committee of Congress the bill providing for a juvenile court for the District of Columbia, with request for its passage.

Dynamite Kills Man.

Royal, Wis., Dec. 2.—William Egget was blown to bits while forcing fuse and cap on a stick of dynamite. A pile holding ten pounds, standing near by, tipped over on him.

Your Life Current.

The power that gives you life and motion is the nerve force, or nerve fluid, located in the nerve cells of the brain, and sent out through the nerves to the various organs.

If you are tired, nervous, irritable, cannot sleep; have headache, feel stuffy, dull and melancholy, or have neuralgia, rheumatism, backache, periodical pains, indigestion, dyspepsia, stomach trouble, or the kidneys and liver are inactive, your life-current is weak.

Power-producing fuel is needed; something to increase nerve energy—strengthen the nerves.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine is the fuel you need. It feeds the nerves, produces nerve force, and restores vitality.

"When I began taking Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine and Anti-Pain Pills I was confined to my bed. I had severe nervous spells, the result of two years' illness with malaria. I gradually grew so weak that I was unable to sit up. The spells would come on with cold chills, and I would become weak and almost helpless. My circulation was poor. I had doctored right along but grew weaker and weaker. The Nervine seemed to strengthen me right away and my circulation was better. I have taken in all seven bottles of the Nervine and am entirely well."

ROSA E. WEAVER, Sturtevant, Ia.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

ONLY THREE WEEKS REMAIN IN WHICH TO DO YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

We advise early selections. Stocks are at their best now, and you escape the unavoidable Christmas rush. In accordance with our invariable policy, goods are marked at the same small percentage of profit today as they will be throughout the Christmas shopping season. Don't worry about finding just the right thing to give. You have only to come to "T. P. Burns" and look around. Every department suggests desirable presents.

WHAT TO GIVE! WHERE TO BUY! HOW MUCH TO PAY!

For lack of space only a partial list can be given here. Perhaps it will help you with your choosing. The store is full of new goods, so many things may have skipped the list. But remember what is here is thoroughly good—and you pay less than in most stores.

Santa Claus Prize Contest at T. P. Burns'

Free for Boys and Girls Whose Ages Do Not Exceed 10 Years.

Here it is. To the girl who guesses the right name of the doll we will give a beautiful 22-inch doll elaborately dressed. To the boy we will give a fine brown hair horse 21 inches high and 19 inches long, guessing the name of the horse.

The prizes will be awarded by disinterested parties in our carpet department, 2nd floor, December 24th, at 7:30 p. m. Address your guess to Santa Claus, in care of T. P. Burns, Janesville, Wis.

Send your answer in early. Write your name and address plainly stating age and date. The early answers will receive the first consideration.

NEWS OF THE STATE IN BRIEF.

By an accidental discharge of a shotgun in the hands of Louis Johnson at Spring Green B. F. Davis lost an eye.

P. H. Charette, an employee of the Kimberly-Clark company at Niagara, was instantly killed on Thursday while unloading logs, being crushed to death under the railway.

Joseph Kamtowitz, aged 10 years, was drowned at Beaver Dam by breaking through the ice on the lake. Kamtowitz, with several other small boys, had been skating, and when he broke through the ice, the others became alarmed and returned home and did not inform his parents until morning.

Victor Lindquist, one of the pioneers of the town of Bristol, met a tragic death at his home on Thanksgiving day. Members of the family had come to the home to attend the annual family reunion, and the old man, seemingly in the best of health, sat down to carve the turkey. Just as he started the work he fell over dead.

State Insurance Commissioner Zeno Host has left for St. Louis to examine the American Guaranty Fund and Life Insurance company of St. Louis, which has petitioned for a license to operate in Wisconsin. From St. Louis Commissioner Host will go to New York to confer with other middle west commissioners regarding the investigation of the big eastern companies.
